

12 months of COVID-19: Risk Management Lessons and Perspectives

Business Continuity
plans are worth their weight in gold

Cash and liquidity
reserves are priceless
(and company-saving)

Successful digital transformation
improves risk profile

Supply chains need to be better understood

New technologies can be quickly and safely implemented

Perceived operational risks are not always a reality

Diverse management
teams perform better

Time spent on scenario planning is time well spent

All of the other risks
haven't gone away
